STILL NEED MORE

Wheatland Adds 16 Teachers

The Board of the Wheatland School Division met at the Divisional Office on Friday, August 22. After engaging sixteen new teachers on the teaching staff, the Division is still short about thirteen teachers. It is hoped to reduce this number considerably before school opens on September 2.

The following schools have been closed and arrangements are being made to transport the children from these districts to adjoining schools. Chimney Hill, Hawthorne, Bruce Lakes, Dalroy, Hervey, and Cairnhill.

The new High School room at Strathmore is ready for operation and Mrs. A. E. Polley will be in charge.

Mr. Frank Blascare has purchased a new bus to serve the Crowfoot School District and a bus will be put in operation to transport pupils from the Hervey School District to Strathmore. The Cairnhill pupils will be transported by bus to Carseland. The pupils from Bruce Lakes, Hawthorne and Dalroy will be transported to Kathryn where a new classroom is being opened.

Mrs. Larsen from Nightingale has

Hussar Deluged By Heavy Rain

After having had no rain at all during the month of July, and only scattered showers so far in August, the people of Hussar were astonished at a down-pouring of rain on Friday, and showers on Saturday until the rain fall totalled four and sixty-five hundredths inches, .465", by official weather gauge. Several cellars were flooded; the basement of Hans' Store began to cave in, and two others reported that their cellar walls had begun to crumble on the side, owing to the force of the downpour in the driving wind.

This is the heaviest rainfall recorded at one time in Hussar for many years. Dead Horse Lake is fairly well covered with water today, and it was absolutely dry on Thursday. Hay, gardens and late crops will be benefited by this rain, even though harvesting operations will be delayed.

The first wheat to be brought into Hussar belongs to R. Janz; he has hauled in 400 bushels already and the grade is good.

WEDDING

WILSON—McPHEE

A quiet wedding took place on Sunday, August 10th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sharp, Lacombe, when Mrs. Sharp's brother, Hugh John Wilson of Gleichen was united in marriage to Georgina Margaret McPhee, also of Gleichen. Mr. J. R. Brown of Clive, Alberta performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown, three quarter length dressmaker suit. Later Mr. and Mrs. Wilson left for a honeymoon trip to Edmonton.

T. Longbotham Passes

Timothy Longbotham, long known through the Bow Valley district, passed away at his home in Baintree, last Friday, at the age of 67. Mr. Longbotham was born in Falkirk, Scotland, and moved to the Baintree district in 1911, where he farmed and operated the general store until the time of his passing.

Mr. Longbotham was known far and wide for his interest in public affairs and the support he gave to community endeavors. Up until a few years ago he wrote regularly for a number of papers, among which was The Standard, and a few years ago had a small book of verse published under the title, Prairie Winds.

He is survived by two sons, Samuel of Rockyford and David of Baintree; one daughter, Mrs. D. W. Hunt of Calgary; eight grandchildren; three brothers and one sister in Scotland, and one sister in the States.

Funeral services were conducted on Monday in Park Memorial chapel, by Rev. H. C. Burkholder, with interment in Calgary cemetery. Pallbearers were Messrs. James Nesbitt, William McMillan, William Lyons, P. H. Den Ior, A. W. Miller and B. Keeler.

FARMER'S COLUMN—

By R. J. Milligan

Seems rather a superfluity to be writing about Fall irrigation after our three and one half inches of rain recently, yet that is exactly what I am going to do.

How many of you farmers practice fall irrigation? Very few, if any. Lethbridge district and other irrigated areas follow this practice, why not the Western Irrigation District?

The natural question in your mind therefore, is what are the benefits to be gained by fall irrigation? It helps to maintain the moisture content of the soil and if soil is moist and fall cultivation is done to help control weeds, the soil tends to be lumpy and thus avoid soil blowing. Fall irrigation increases the yield the following year. Do not apply water too heavily and saturate your soil. If correctly done, a uniform germination can be expected.

Apply fall irrigation early. In this way the needed moisture is available for the bacteria when breaking down humus into plant food. Another advantage is that weed seeds are germinated and are killed by the winter frost. Of course this does not apply to winter annuals like mustards or stink-weed.

If you fall irrigate forage crops and hay fields, a heavier growth takes place, thus giving you a stronger plant to go through the winter. Some farmers irrigate their hay fields early in the spring, others do not. For those that do not find time to spring irrigate why not plan to do it this fall and give your hay fields the care they require.

Former Editor Revisits Strathmore

In Strathmore at present, after an absence of twenty-one years, are Mr. and Mrs. John Mackenzie of Inverness, Scotland. When The Standard commenced publication in October, 1909, "Jock" Mackenzie was the fledgling newspaper's first editor and manager. A year later he acquired ownership from the late W. Park Evans of Gleichen, and was in charge of its fortunes till 1926, when family circumstances called him back to Scotland, and he sold the business to the late A. A. Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie arrived at New York by the "Queen Mary", on her maiden voyage from Southampton following reconnoitering after seven years' war service. After two days in New York, and ten days with relatives and friends in Ontario, they arrived in Strathmore on Friday last week, their hosts being J. E. Gray and his daughter Frances. Later they will travel on to Field and Vancouver, and are booked to sail from New York on September 26th.

"It has been a great pleasure to my wife and myself," said Mr. Mackenzie to The Standard, "to be back in the old town again and meet so many friends of pioneer days, also to see that both town and countryside continue to progress. The number of buildings erected since we left, and the number now under construction, are an excellent index of the spirit which animates the community. I hope that before long your plans for water and sewerage will come to fruition. We had similar plans in former days. Circumstances defeated them, but this time I would urge that you take time by the forelock.

"One thing which impressed me immensely is the way your trees have grown. When I came to Strathmore there was nothing but bald-headed prairie, with not a single tree all the way from Serviceberry Creek to the Bow River. Now the landscape has been beautified beyond recognition. There have also been great improvements in the roads since I left. The community spirit is evident in the success of your Memorial Hall, in the erection of which I am proud to have participated, in your swimming pool, skating and curling rinks, in your churches and other amenities which go to make a good town. Particularly I am pleased to see that The Standard, which I have been reading every week since I left, continues to flourish, and faithfully reflects the business life and spirit of the district."

Asked regarding present conditions in Britain, he said the people of the

Lions Hear of Crop Improvement

Members of the Lions Club heard an address on the Improvement of Farm Crops down through the ages given by R. J. Milligan, District Agriculturist, last Thursday, when they held their regular meeting in the Memorial Hall.

A splendid dinner was served by Messrs. G. Faraday and A. Scott, and their wives. During the meeting, L. Coulter was welcomed as a new member.

The Scott Pot was drawn for W. Jensen, who was absent.

Certain discussion was held concerning the wading pool, and a further donation to the pool account from M. S. Hirtle was received.

Mr. Milligan, who held the attention of his listeners for quite some time, traced the growth of agriculture and the increase in yields down through the ages. He showed as he went the effect on population, and in many cases, the effect on national culture. Many questions followed Mr. Milligan's address, showing how much interest had been evoked.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Recently I met a young man who made an extraordinary impression on me.

Very soon thereafter I made a mental note that this man would "go places". Yet I know very little about the actual work he was doing.

How, then, did I get such a favorable impression?

Several factors contributed. He had a neat appearance, plenty of poise and seemed alert and intelligent. But it was what he said and the way he said it — even in casual conversation — that counted. Not that he "talked big". Quite the contrary.

The effectiveness of his remarks was due entirely to the fact that they were always "meaty". Every utterance was definite, crisp, pointed. Every observation well considered. I don't think I ever heard him say a thing that was trite or make a foolish generalization. In short, he thought before he spoke.

Note to ambitious young men: In the brief time I have known this chap, he has had two big raises in pay.

The Life Insurance companies in Canada have been successful in reaching their present size for two reasons: They are efficiently managed; and they render a necessary service by providing security for over 4,000,000 policyholders and their families.

Fall Irrigation

Fall irrigation has been practised by water users in Alberta for many years and its value is generally recognized by irrigation farmers and project managers. An irrigation applied in the fall will give higher yield and generally eliminate the need for at least one irrigation the following season and as a result the field work is more evenly distributed and irrigation schedules are more easily maintained.

The guiding principle to observe in irrigating is to maintain the moisture content of the soil within the optimum range for plant growth. In practice the problem sometimes is to know what this range is and how to irrigate so as to maintain the moisture content within this range. Too little moisture results in reduced yields. Too much water also reduces yields and quality and if repeated too often may damage or even ruin the land.

Fall irrigation properly applied helps to maintain the moisture content of the soil within the desired range. Excessive irrigation may cause water logging, and if followed by a wet spring, seeding may be delayed and yields reduced.

Fall irrigation is more effective if applied early, while temperatures are still high enough for bacterial action to liberate plant food for the crop the following year. Early fall, and even late summer, irrigation helps to promote soil conditions similar to those found in a good summerfallow. In the case of alfalfa and other forage crops earlier irrigation will give some late season growth to provide added winter protection.

Big business often springs from little classifieds.

Higher Wheat Price

Suggestions from Ottawa that there will be a higher initial price for the farmer's wheat will be hailed with enthusiasm by the entire community.

Particularly coming, as it does, just when the prospect on all sides looked rather discouraging, will it give a necessary mental lift to the farmer, sorely harassed by drought, unseasonal rain, hail, shortage of machinery and help, low and tough grades, and low yields in prospect.

The additional prospect of a higher price from Great Britain under the contract will also re-assure many farmers.

The only hardship now will be to sit and wait for the participation certificates. Wouldn't it be nice if the government insisted that they be delivered by such and such a date, or have added to them four per cent, as is the case when they're collecting?

In practice the problem sometimes is to know what this range is and how to irrigate so as to maintain the moisture content within this range. Too little moisture results in reduced yields. Too much water reduces yield and quality and if repeated too often, may damage or even ruin the land.

According to studies made some years ago the average depth of irrigation applied per irrigation by water users was 9 inches, whereas the soil depending on types will hold about 1 to 3 inches of moisture to the foot. The need, therefore, of avoiding excessive irrigation is apparent and especially on land where the sub-soil may be saturated from previous irrigation or seepage.

Old Country had a hard row to hoe since 1939. The war inflicted a great deal of material damage, and in the struggle to save civilization nearly all the country's overseas investments had been sacrificed to pay for food and munitions. The resources of home industry, forestry, and agriculture had also been devoted to the one object of winning the war. Since it had ended great progress had been made in the building of new homes and factories, but the bad harvest weather of last autumn, followed by the hardest winter in living memory, had proved a severe setback. However, there was full employment, great new schemes were in progress for mining, hydro-electric, and industrial development, which would bear fruit in two or three years. There were still shortages in various foods, in clothing, timber, newsprint, etc., but no one was starving, wages were good, the birth rate was rising, and statistics showed the general health of the people to be higher than it had ever been. Britons were extremely grateful to Canada and the other Dominions for their help during the war and since it, and hoped that as many Canadians as possible would take the opportunity of visiting England and Scotland. Shipping was not adequate yet, but by another year he believed present travel difficulties would have been solved.

Asked regarding political conditions in Britain, "Jack" said that although a newspaper man himself, he would ask that Canadians take with a grain of salt many of the stories published. They were usually summarized and sometimes biased. He might present some of his own opinions in a later issue of The Standard.

In concluding, he said Mrs. Mackenzie and himself wished to take this opportunity of thanking their many friends for the hospitable welcome they had been given. Time would not permit them to accept all the invitations extended, but they trusted any friends of pioneer days they failed to meet personally would accept this assurance of their best wishes for their health and happiness.

SOIL EROSION

The Dominion Experimental Station at Swift Current, in addition to its usual work, has made also during the past twenty years or so, some remarkable investigations into the use of moisture by the wheat plant. First under the direction of the late Barnes and now under the direction of the scientist Dr. J. L. Doughty, some quite unexpected and unlooked for results have been found. One of these announced by Dr. Doughty recently at Lethbridge at the meeting of the Agricultural Institute, and which surprised most people, was to the effect that the present system of farming on these prairies is NOT causing, as some people think, a rapid deterioration of the soil. In other words, it would appear that if water erosion and wind erosion can be controlled, that we can go on growing wheat and grains on these prairies for long, long periods of time without suffering from decline in yield per acre. This is a comforting thing to know, because so many people particularly city people, think that the so-called prairie "wheat-miners" are rapidly exhausting the fertility of the soil and that in a few years these prairies will not be able to grow any more grain. So the so-called "wheat-miner" it appears, can be absolved from blame.

Sawfly Damage

Widespread areas in Alberta have been hit by sawfly damage, causing millions of dollars of damage, according to Dr. C. W. Farstad of the Dominion entomological laboratory in Lethbridge.

Dr. Farstad intimated that many fields were virtually 100 per cent infested. He said that a good many farmers were making comparatively little effort to control sawfly damage by use of trap crops. Dr. Farstad warned that while Rescue wheat offers resistance to sawfly, it is not immune to damage by the pest. One field of Rescue wheat, located in a heavily infested sawfly area near Lethbridge, had approximately 5 per cent damage, while nearby fields growing a non-resistant variety suffered more than 95 per cent of the stems cut and the field was nothing but a tangled mass of stems.

FAIRPLAY

— By G. E. W. —

Mrs. Petersen recently spent a week-end in Calgary with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Speiran, School-mates from Ontario, who are vacationing in the west. A few days later she and her brother, Mr. Roy Oxtoby, of Innisfail attended a reunion of several Ontario School-mates held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson of Okotoks. Many years have passed since this group have met.

After spending two weeks at home, Miss Mavis Anderson left to take up her duties, starting at Regina.

Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Gerrard and family of Knee Hill Valley visited Mrs. Gerrard's mother, Mrs. H. O. Peterson. Their daughter Betty remained to spend a further holiday here.

Mrs. Ivan Mallett and daughter, Fern of Edmonton and Miss Patay Graham of Brooks were guests for a week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Albertson.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Fraser have had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Fraser and family of Fabyan and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fraser and family of Fabyan and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fraser and family of Turner Valley making all their family at home for the first time in several years. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Fraser later left for a motor trip through the U.S.A. The girls remained here with their grandparents.

We are glad to report that Mrs. W. D. Braden has been released from the Banff Mineral Springs Hospital, where she has been for some time. She will spend a few days in Calgary before returning home.

Mrs. Petersen visited her sister and daughter at Knee Hill Valley last week.

Miss Ruth Lowe spent a few days at home before taking up her duties at Jimmies in Calgary.

Mr. Marvin Peterson motored to Lethbridge on a business trip last week.

Mrs. Danny Fraser has been confined to her bed for several days. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Silkstone of Calgary and Miss Lenore Pauline of Medicine Hat were Sunday and Monday guests at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Albertson.

Some hail damage was suffered on the north side of the district on Monday afternoon.

Honey Extracting

The Provincial Apiarist for Alberta, W. G. Le Maistre, advises beekeepers that the bulk of honey should be extracted from their hives by the end of August. Some honey granulates a few weeks after being stored by the colony and all honey is difficult to extract and strain in cold weather.

Supers that have been extracted are given back to the colony to be cleaned out by the bees and made ready for storing over winter.

Two or three combs of honey should always be saved to provide feed for each colony next year.

...so Mary will take up nursing after all

IT LOOKED for a while as if a temporary financial problem in the family might keep Mary from finishing "High". If she had to quit school to help the family income that would have meant good-bye to her hopes of becoming a nurse.

But here she is, starting her final year. Did her Dad suddenly come into some money?

No... and yes. He consulted his bank manager, who told him how the bank, through personal loans, often helped people to meet just such situations. Arrangements were made, and now Mary will take up nursing after all.

In 1946 Canada's banks made half a million personal loans to Canadian men and women.

Several years ago Mrs. Girvin purchased the fine residence at 61 Forrest Hill Road, Toronto, of the late Col. Harry McGee, a director of T. Eaton's, and she is now conducting this beautiful 25-roomed house as a guest home, meeting a felt need in these days of shortage of accommodation, being always filled to capacity. Her eldest daughter, Evangeline, is now married to Mr. J. Russell Carter and living at Kingston. Her younger, Romola, is a hospital nurse, while her son, Billy, is now studying at Toronto University following service with the Canadian Army overseas. Mrs. W. E. Thompson invited a few friends to Tea Tuesday afternoon to meet her guest, Mrs. Priestly of Winnipeg, who with her son have been on a motor trip to California, Vancouver, Victoria, Lake Louise, and Banff. They were leaving for Winnipeg Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie of Rotheray, Scotland, are much feted visitors during their stay in Strathmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Gannon, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Haulbally and Mrs. T. S. Hughes left for Pincher Creek and Waterton, early this week, where they will spend a holiday for a couple of weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Baldwin have Verna Mae and Jeanette Gannon as house guests for two weeks while their parents are holidaying, and Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Willson are entertaining Gordon.

The town's fire siren has not been sounding at noon for the past few days. It gave a very feeble wail on Friday, and it was thought that the wet weather had affected the switch, so it was tried again. Inspection proved that the bearings were shot, and the machine is now being repaired.

Two or three of Strathmore's Scouts got a kick on Wednesday when Ernie Radcliffe and Keith Layzell dropped into town for a short time. Both of these chaps had been at the recent Scout camp with the local boys.

Bob Willson will leave next week for Calgary, where he is attending Mount Royal College and taking a business course.
